

Revolt in Argentina May Have Been Just Staged Uprising

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Sept. 28—(P)—The official state radio announced today a revolt was staged by two former army generals against the government of Juan D. Peron and was swiftly put down.

The radio, a short time after announcing civil war had broken out in Argentina, declared the government quelled the uprising headed by former Gen. Arturo Rawson and former Gen. Benjamin Menendez. Rawson was a leader of a 1943 rebellion which placed him in the presidency just two days.

There was no information available from other sources. The capital has been closed down tightly, with business establishments shut.

There were many rumors of troop movements, but these could not be confirmed.

No fighting was observed in the streets of Buenos Aires except for sporadic fist fights. But a large crowd was pouring into the Plaza de

Mayo in front of Peron's office, shouting "La Vida Por Peron" (Our lives for Peron.)

(In Washington observers close to Argentine affairs said the revolution may have been a bona fide one, but could have been a staged affair to whip up sentiment for Peron in the forthcoming Nov. 11 elections in which he is a candidate to succeed himself. However there have been many reports of army dissatisfaction with the regime.)

(Reports reaching Washington at midday said army troops were stationed on the roof of the Casa Rosada. No police were said to be in evidence.)

(These reports also said the leaflets that were scattered over the city by planes calling on the army to revolt were signed by General Menendez.)

Rawson overthrew the government of President Ramon S. Castillo.

Armco Host to Employees and Families

Armco proved its reputation as a "family institution" Thursday afternoon and evening when it held an "open house" for 565 employees and members of their families.

Families and employees toured the plant and enjoyed hot dogs, baked beans, potato chips, ice cream, coffee and pop.

The fete was held in the main plant building on tables which were set up inside the structure.

Special tributes were paid to 20 employees who started with the Armco Drainage and Metal Products plant Sept. 18, 1950, and who are still on the payroll.

The 20 loyal employees include the following: Richard L. Wallingford, Chester Estep, Hayward Riley, Wendell Barr, James Bey-

The "open house," celebrating the first year of operation of the plant, started about 4 P. M. Thursday and extended a little beyond 7 P. M.

Plant officials permitted the day shift workers to leave their jobs early to get ready for the party, and the night shift did not have to go on the job until about 7 P. M.

For most of the visitors, it was their first look inside the expanding Armco Drainage and Metal Products plant. They found special interest in seeing where "pop" spends his time earning a living for his family.

Armco Officials at Party

Several top Armco officials were on hand for the celebration. They included the following: M. C. Patton, vice president of Armco Drainage and Metal Products, and his wife of Middletown; C. E. McIntyre, public relations department of Armco, Middletown; Ray Miles, photographer at Armco, Middletown; Myles Bixby, (Please turn to Page Twelve)

Attack Is Launched On Sen. McCarthy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(P)—Senator Benton (D-Conn.) told a Senate rules subcommittee today he would present evidence to help it decide whether Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) "has committed perjury and has practiced calculated deceit."

Benton made the statement at a public hearing on his resolution looking toward the possibility of ousting McCarthy from the Senate. It was the first step in a proceedings which could take months to reach the showdown stage—if it ever does.

Reading from a 25,000 word prepared statement, Benton said he would show McCarthy "has created for himself not only a record of irresponsibility but one of lack of integrity and character." Benton added:

"I of course am persuaded that my own testimony x x x will develop for you ample evidence to show that Senator McCarthy should be expelled, but at a minimum I hope your committee will agree that further investigation is not only warranted but imperative."

Traffic Violators May Go to School

HAMILTON, Sept. 28—(P)—If you violate a traffic law in Hamilton from now on, you have a choice of going to school or losing your license for a year or more. The school is one in drivers' responsibility conducted by the Hamilton Safety Council. Length of attendance depends upon the nature of the violation.

The cool belt extended from the Rocky Mountains to the Appalachians southward to the southern plains and middle Mississippi Valley. The lowest readings were in the northern plains. It was 22 above in Bismarck and Dickinson, N. D., and 24 above in Huron and Aberdeen, S. D.

Chicago had the coldest day of the season with a low of 40.

The cold air was expected to extend into the eastern seaboard today, but some warming over the Midwest was expected by tomorrow.

Showdown Near In Iran Crisis On Oil Seizure

Britain's Dispute May Go to UN as Situation Seethes

LONDON, Sept. 28—(P)—Britain may ask the United Nations security council to intervene in the tense Anglo-Iranian oil dispute, informed sources said today.

The cabinet met on the oil crisis for the third time this week, as this country waited developments in the middle east country which has ordered British oil men at Abadan expelled by next Thursday.

A likely course for London may be, the informants said, to ask the security council to order Iranian obedience to an international court of justice recommendation. The court urged both sides to seek a peaceful settlement of the dispute, which arose from Iran's nationalization of the billion-dollar Anglo-Iranian Oil Company holdings.

A senior British cabinet minister told a reporter the government would issue a full statement tonight on its course of action and its reasons for what decisions were made, but would not say what the decision was.

No British Comment

A foreign office spokesman refused to confirm or deny that Britain would take the dispute to the security council.

Government chiefs have instructed Britain's ambassador in Tehran, Sir Francis Shepherd, to report on Mossadegh's reaction to an appeal from President Truman to reverse the order. Mossadegh has given the 317 men still at Abadan until Oct. 4 to get out.

A Reuters dispatch from Tehran yesterday said that Iranian troops had taken over complete control of the refinery -- the world's largest--and had banned all but ten Britons from entering. The plant was the property of the British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Company which Iran has nationalized. It has been under military guard for months.

Later dispatches from Abadan to Tehran newspapers said only one Iranian officer and one soldier were posted at the refinery gates. Their job was said to be to prevent 70 British employees of the administrative and accounting departments from entering. These dispatches said other Britons would continue to work at the plant until they leave, as ordered, next week.

Prime Minister Clement Attlee has a personal message from Truman which qualified informant's (Please turn to Page Two)

Sesquicentennial Plans Laid Here

Fayette County Given Leading Role For State Event--Penn Is Chairman

Designated as one of the two "pilot" counties in the state of Ohio, Fayette County started making plans here Thursday night for the observance of the Ohio Sesquicentennial in 1953.

Erwin C. Zepp, director of the Ohio Historical Society and executive-secretary of the Ohio Sesquicentennial Commission, and two of his assistants met with several key leaders in the county to plan for the celebration.

The county got off to a quick start on its celebration plans by selecting Ralph Penn to lead the executive committee which will plan Fayette County's celebration.

Named to his committee were the following: Ray Brandenburg, C. E. McCarty, Forest Tipton, Bob Jefferson, Clarence Stuckey, Albert Cobb, Gretchen Darlington, Ralph Taylor, Ed Cunningham and Mrs. Norma Campbell.

Ohio Highways Are Under Fire

Auditor Ferguson Opens Attack

COLUMBUS, Sept. 28—(P)—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson disclosed today what he termed "another serious surface failure" on a newly constructed Ohio Highway.

He told Highway Director T. J. Kauer he has photographs of "holes and cracks" on Route 68 north of Kenton.

Ferguson said the new highway opened to traffic last November has not been entirely completed or paid for and that he will not honor checks to contractors "until evidence is submitted to prove satisfactory construction."

He said contractors are Parkersburg Excavating Co. of Parkersburg, W. Va., and the L. P. Cavett Co. of Lockland near Cincinnati.

Total cost of the 8,789 miles of new highway was $592,617.

Earlier this week a mile section of new pavement on Route 36 near New Philadelphia collapsed within 15 minutes after it was opened to normal traffic. Kauer is investigating that case to determine responsibility for faulty construction, and has suspended two highway division 11 officials.

Ferguson said in his letter to Kauer:

"I do not presume to be an engineer, but I do know there must be something radically wrong in the past 12 years in the road building in Ohio."

"It is hard for anyone to believe that this trouble can be blamed entirely on heavy truck traffic or as result of frost damage."

"It is quite evident that there are serious faults somewhere along the line that need study and the complete cooperation of all state facilities. In this connection, I should like to offer the fullest cooperation of my office to you."

Gov. Frank J. Lausche has expressed complete confidence in Kauer's administration of the (Please turn to Page Two)

Commie Troops Going to Front Hit by Planes

U. S. Chief of Staff Arrives in Japan; May Be Significant

By JOHN RANDOLPH U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Sept. 28—(P)—Communist forces launched a series of sharp attacks last night at widely scattered points across 50 miles of the Korean battle front.

Behind the lines, they rolled a mass of men and supplies toward the front along all the major north-south roads across the waist of the Korean peninsula.

They took advantage of a moonless night. But Allied planes converged on the main arteries and the U. S. fifth air force said its pilots destroyed 508 Communist vehicles and damaged 613 -- a record. The old mark was 964, set Wednesday.

The roving armies attacked more than 1,700 trucks from dusk Thursday to dawn Friday, the fifth air force said.

The tempo of Communist troop and transport activity sharpened as efforts to revive the stalled truce talks reached a virtual standstill.

The Communist forces threw their sharpest attacks in the Yonchon and Chorwon sectors near western Korea's iron triangle, and the east-central area at Heartbreak Ridge and the Punchbowl Heights.

The Reds lobbed artillery and mortar shells throughout Thursday night as Allied infantrymen dug in just below the crest of Heartbreak, a hill mass north of Yangku.

Other Red troops attacked American and South Korean troops holding a hill west of the ridge. They had captured it only Tuesday. The fight raged on into the morning.

It appeared the Reds were trying to cut off advance Allied units both in the east and west.

Thirty-five American Sabre jets swept Mig alley in northwest Korea for 30 minutes Friday morning but failed to raise Communist jets.

SOMETHING BREWING?

TOKYO, Sept. 28—(P)—Gen. Omar Bradley arrived tonight, possibly to map strategy if the Korean truce talks collapse completely and full-scale fighting erupts.

Bradley's plane arrived at near-by Haneda Airport at 9:30 P. M. (7:30 A. M. EST.) The chairman of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff was accompanied by Charles Bohlen, State Department expert on Russia.

The Defense Department in Washington said Bradley would "survey all aspects of the situation" with Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme Allied commander.

Ridgway yesterday suggested a switch in the truce talk site in an effort to revive the stalled armistice talks.

Peiping radio treated Ridgway's proposal with rough language. In a broadcast as Bradley's plane was winging the last few miles to Tokyo, it accused Ridgway of "carrying out orders from Washington to use the change-of-conference site question to block the resumption" of truce talks.

The Chinese and North Koreans have not answered Ridgway's suggestion Thursday for getting the bogged down parley going again.

He wanted the conference site switched from Kaesong, behind Red lines, to the Songhoyon area in no-man's-land. The village is six miles southeast of Kaesong. Observers said this could be Ridgway's last compromise proposal.

Mock Bombing Planned

CINCINNATI, Sept. 28—(P)—Greater Cincinnati will be bombed for the first time Sunday. Fifteen planes of the Civil Air Patrol will release fake bombs in the Forestville area in a mock bombing staged by the Anderson Township civil defense unit.

14 Bodies Found In Plane Wreckage

MATSUDA, Japan, Sept. 28—(P)—Japanese police reported tonight 14 bodies were found in and near the wreckage of a U. S. Air Force C-119 flying boxcar which crashed here last night.

The plane, assigned to the 314th Troop Carrier Group, was en route to Tokyo from Asahi Air Force base in southern Japan.

A C-46 Commando which also was enroute to Tokyo crashed and burned early today in foothills near Hakone, seven miles west of Atsugi. It was carrying a crew of six and five passengers.

Small hailstones are not uncommon during violent storms in this area, but there are records of hailstones nearly as large as hen eggs falling within the county.

Some 20 years ago such stones fell over a small area in western Fayette County, and I recall former County Superintendent of Schools M. E. Wilson was driving an automobile in the area at the time.

The hailstones penetrated the oilcloth covering on the top of his automobile as if it were tissue paper. I recall that Wilson told me that he used a coat to shield his head from the pelting stones, and he pointed to dents in his car where the big hailstones had struck.

Likewise I have heard of other storms within the county in which hailstones as large as hulled walnuts were plentiful.

Personally, the largest I ever saw fell in Paint Township many years ago. They were more than an inch in diameter. Others were two inches long and about 1/2 inch thick.

Hailstones weighing up to 1 1/2 pounds have fallen in this county, however.

Last June a hail storm, or series of hailstorms, swept Kansas, Colorado and Texas, and some of the stones were larger than regulation size baseballs.

American Prisoners in Korea In Tragic Position, Editors At Frisco Meeting Are Told

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28—(P)—The most tragic story in Korea today is the plight of 10,000 prisoners of war--most of them American--Associated Press General Executive Frank H. King said today.

"It's going to become more tragic as winter closes in," he predicted in a report on the Far East. The report was prepared for today's session of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association.

The editors also dug into problems of city editors, and prepared resolutions condemning President Truman's sweeping security of information order to civilian agencies and the imprisonment of AP Correspondent William N. Oatis in Communist Czechoslovakia.

Aid Needed Now

King said American prisoners behind Communist lines were in need of "quick aid." On Sept. 12, he reminded, the AP carried the first dispatch about distribution of winter clothing to troops in Korea. He recently returned from a 10 week tour of Asian trouble areas.

PUSAN, Korea, Sept. 28—(P)—Korean laborers working for the U. S. army want a wage boost--of 200 percent.

The army recently granted a 50 percent raise, but laborers say they need four times that. The present average daily wage of 2,000 won (about 35 cents), estimated at about one-third of the living costs of a family of four, they complain.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 28—(P)—A Cordell, Ky., man died in Grant Hospital last night of injuries suffered in a beating earlier in the week, Dr. Robert A. Evans, county coroner, said.

The Nation Today

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP) — A real test of the ability of labor and management to iron out their problems peaceably may be shaping up soon.

That's the word from the labor trouble-shooter now at the head of the Wage Stabilization Board.

His name is Nathan P. Feinsinger, a University of Wisconsin law professor with a decade-old background in putting out labor fires for the government.

"Up to now," Feinsinger told this writer, "We've had the rather rare experience of having labor and management join together in appearances before the wage board, both asking us to approve the same thing. So there's been no real test of their ability to get along."

"It seems to me that we've had some steady improvement in relations between labor and management. But whether that's permanent or only temporary will probably be tested by developments in the near future."

"It may come in two ways. For one thing, when the slack is taken up, the board may have to say 'no' to proposed wage increases in an increasing number of cases."

"For another thing, when and if this board gets deeper into the area of recommending settlements in disputes, it will have to disappoint at least one of the parties in each dispute. My feeling is that it's not going to be a honeymoon by any means."

The new chairman gave employers and union some advice recently in a Detroit speech. He said they all can contribute to the defense production program by settling their disputes peacefully.

He said employers and unions can cause worker unrest by negotiating agreements far above what the wage board can approve. Workers only get restive when the board has to cut such agreements down to stabilization size, he said.

On the other hand, Feinsinger said the board doesn't want to restrict collective bargaining either. Parties in disputes should feel free, he said, to reach reasonable agreements.

Feinsinger became wage board chairman a few weeks ago. He succeeded Dr. George W. Taylor, who returned to his teaching career at the University of Pennsylvania.

A man of varied interests -- law, labor and marital relations, and intercollegiate sports -- Feinsinger has been mixed up as a mediator and arbitrator in some of this country's worst labor disputes.

Probably his greatest success was in handling the tangled strike situation in Hawaii in 1946. Strikes in the longshore, sugar and pineapple industries had crippled the island's economy.

Feinsinger stepped in as a special representative of the labor department. All three strikes were quickly settled. For that feat, a special day honoring Feinsinger was proclaimed throughout Hawaii.

During World War II Feinsinger figured in some of the biggest labor troubles as disputes director for the war labor board. Friends say he wangled a number of settlements single-handed. He has also served on a number of big labor dispute fact-finding boards named by President Truman.

When To Send Christmas Mail To Servicemen

To Insure Delivery Mail from Oct. 15 To November 15

The period October 15 to November 15 has again been designated for the acceptance of Christmas parcels for members of the armed forces serving outside the continental United States.

It is expected that many Christmas parcels will be sent this year by persons in this community to their loved ones serving overseas and the following instructions have been issued with the view of assuring delivery of gift parcels on time and in good condition.

The term "armed forces overseas" includes the personnel of the armed forces, members of their families, and authorized United States civilians employed overseas who receive their mail through an A. P. O. or Fleet Post Office.

The importance of mailing Christmas parcels during the designated period cannot be emphasized too strongly -- the earlier the better.

Parcels destined for delivery in Japan, Korea, and the islands in the Pacific should be mailed as early as possible, preferably not later than November 1, in view of the distances involved.

Must Be Mailed by Oct. 15

Parcels for navy and marine corps personnel serving in the most remote areas should be mailed not later than October 15. Parcels for such personnel known to be in an area which would permit mailing after October 15 may be deposited at a later date within the period.

Boxes for overseas transmission must necessarily be of strong construction on account of the great distance these parcels must be transported and the handling and storage they must undergo.

It is absolutely necessary that all articles for overseas be packed in boxes of metal, wood, solid fiberboard, or strong double-faced corrugated fiberboard.

Each box should be tied with strong cord, preferably by four separate pieces, two lengthwise and two crosswise, knotted at crossings. Sealing the flaps with gummed tape where they meet strengthens the box, but the use of such tape alone is not satisfactory, since the tape loosens if the boxes become wet or exposed to moist atmosphere.

Boxes should contain sufficient cushioning material so that the contents will be tightly packed to prevent any rattling or loosening of the articles within the parcels. Unless completely packed and tightly filled, boxes are likely to be crushed.

Heavy Wrapping Suggested

It is also desirable that all fiberboard boxes be securely wrapped in heavy paper, which materially strengthens the boxes. They should be tied as above suggested, before and after applying the heavy paper wrapper.

Addresses must be legible and prepared in typewriting or ink.

Another Quarry Workman Injured

Another man was hospitalized at Greenfield this week as result of injuries sustained when badly shocked by electricity at the Blue Rock Quarries plant, two miles north of Greenfield.

He was John Wilson, 38. Wilson was nearly electrocuted when he was working with a switch.

He sustained a burn on his arm and suffered a terrific shock to his heart, according to the attending physician.

A short time ago a workman was electrocuted at the plant, and another had a narrow escape.

Proposal to Tax Is Lien on Your Income

Joseph M. Dodge, Detroit banker, gives straight dope about higher taxes, more inflation and dangers ahead. Speaking as an expert on fiscal policy, he says:

"Taxpayers never seem to realize the simple fact that every proposal to spend public funds is nothing but a proposal to tax, and that taxes are a factor in higher costs and prices.

"They never seem to realize that every form of public expenditure includes a present or delayed first lien on the incomes and properties of every citizen.

"More and more of the income you receive goes to pay taxes. You work less for yourself and more for government-local, state or national.

"This happens because there is too little public interest in the amount, the costs, the purposes and the result of public expenditures; because the public supports proposals to spend large sums that are to be borrowed and paid from later taxes; because the public supports proposals where only relatively small initial expenditures are required but which actually embrace many times these amounts in the final expenditures that must be made to complete the projects.

"The problem of inflation will not be answered until everyone helps drive the issues home, in all their seriousness, to the general public and through the public to the political levels.

"Otherwise inflation will continue its course as an accepted part of our way until its ultimate penalties are paid by everyone."

Is Russia Overrated?

Edward Crankshaw has written a book "Cracks in the Kremlin Wall", which merits reading by the American people. This British student of Russia says Homo Americanus has frightened himself by his own imagination. He depicts the Kremlin bosses as fallible, blundering men who are sowing the seeds of their own destruction.

As for Russia's 75 infantry divisions, he points out it requires only 90 western divisions to equal them in firepower. And Russia's 175 might be needed to keep order in the sprawling Red empire. Russia has weak transportation for big war—the invasion of Europe and England, for example. Its unwieldy, slow-moving force could be cut to pieces by a numerically inferior mechanized force.

Crankshaw is convinced Russia's world conquest design is a myth. The Kremlin crew is not that clever, he avers. Russia is no longer Marxist, he says but a tyranny based on slave labor and is an enemy of free men everywhere. How that differs from Marxism he does not attempt to explain.

The Russians, Crankshaw says, have created their depotism and are stuck with it. Tito rebelled and gave encouragement to other satellites to pull away, which Crankshaw appears to believe they will do. Moscow diplomacy is blundering in forcing the recreation of German military power, which it sought to avoid at all costs.

Perhaps a more realistic appraisal of just what Russia has in order. General MacArthur has intimated that the Reds do not possess the awe-inspiring war machine generally pictured as ready to take to the field.

Blood Vital Need

Residents of this county have as yet failed to reach the county's goal of 125 pints of blood during any of the visits of the Red Cross bloodmobile unit to this city.

On October 1, the blood unit will again pay the city a visit, and again Red Cross leaders are asking for blood.

Those Fayette County people who want to help save a life or bring relief to some soldier, sailor or marine fighting in an American uniform can do so by visiting the American Legion Hall October 1, next Monday.

A pint of blood is a small contribution to a fighting man who has lost two, perhaps three pints on a battlefield.

These voluntary contributions are the only means of getting blood for our armed forces. We can't afford to let down now.

Diet and Health High Blood Pressure Is Caused by Tumor

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

It is estimated that a good many people in the United States succumb each year to a type of high blood pressure which is readily curable if the diagnosis is made early and prompt treatment given.

The cause of this type of high blood pressure is a noncancerous tumor, known as pheochromocytoma, which produces adrenalin or adrenalin-like substances. When these are poured into the blood stream by the body, they act to increase the heart rate and to elevate the blood pressure. When the release of these stimulants occurs at a uniform rate, the patient has a constant high blood pressure which cannot be told from the usual forms of this disorder.

Characteristic Picture

Fortunately, however, such tumors ordinarily yield adrenalin only at intervals and the patient presents a characteristic picture of sudden hypertension, which lasts a relatively short time before it disappears to recur at some later date.

High blood pressure at any age should always make one think of pheochromocytoma. About 85 per cent of these tumors are found in the adrenal glands; the others are located along the sympathetic nervous system of the abdomen.

Prominent Symptoms

The most prominent symptoms they cause are a sudden onset of headache, heart consciousness, weakness, pain, and oppression under the breast bone, accompanied by nausea and vomiting. Between attacks, no symptoms are present. Sometimes, varying the posture may bring on attacks.

During an attack, the patient is pale and alarmed; the skin is cold and moist; the pupils are dilated and the pulse is pounding. The physician may be able to feel a tumor in the abdomen, and the examination of this tumor may cause an attack.

Final Diagnosis

It has been found that giving injections of a substance known as benzodioxane into a vein will put an end to the attack. This finding helps to substantiate final diagnosis.

Removal of the tumor will cure this form of high blood pressure. Sometimes X-ray, with the injection of air into the abdominal cavity, may also help make the diagnosis.

It is believed that early discovery of these tumors may save the

Southeastern Ohio May Get War Plant

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 —(AP) — The area around Zanesville, Cambridge and Marietta, Ohio, was suggested today as a possible site for relocated aluminum plants.

Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson last week told aluminum producers to prepare plans for possible removal of some of these plants in the power-short Pacific northwest to areas of assured power supply.

Rep. Secrest (D-Ohio) wrote Wilson, calling the defense mobilizer's attention to the power potentialities in his southeast Ohio congressional district.

"This area," he said, "is ideally suited for the manufacture of aluminum or other products requiring a combination of power, coal, water and excellent available labor."

Verdict of Suicide Stands for Adamic

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Sept. 28 —(AP) — Suicide was still the verdict today after a three-week police probe into the death of left-wing writer Louis Adamic.

But while nothing has turned up to change the previous tentative conclusion of suicide, all hints of foul play will be tracked down, Hunterdon County Prosecutor Herbert T. Heisel said last night.

Police have been looking into the possibility that Yugoslav-born Adamic was slain by Stalinist agents in his flaming farmhouse in nearby Reigelsville.

Average Cup of Tea Is a Felony

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 —(AP) — "If the great American tragedy today is the average cup of restaurant coffee, pray tell what is the average cup of restaurant tea?"

This query came from a lady fond of the brew that cheers but not inebriates—which, by the way, is tea.

And I feel I can give an authoritative answer. The average cup of restaurant tea isn't tea at all it is a felony performance, a high crime against two of the noblest beverages of history—honest water, honest tea.

It is a far worse thing to serve a bad cup of tea than it is a bad cup of coffee, because it wounds the recipient more grievously.

Coffee drinkers are hearty, durable, down-to-earth people able to stand the shocks and disappointments of life. But your true tea lover is a finer, more sensitive soul, easily depressed by harsh realities.

I don't say this altogether just because I am a tea lover myself, although naturally that's a factor. The poets and writers of the past have hinted at this truth.

"Thank God for tea!" cried Sydney Smith. "What would the world do without tea? I am glad I was not born before tea?"

Emerson observed "there is a great deal of poetry and fine sentiment in a chest of tea." Edmund Waller spoke of tea as

"the muse's friend." And Thomas De Quincey wrote:

"Tea, though ridiculed by those who are naturally coarse in their nervous sensibilities . . . will always be the favorite beverage of the intellectual."

(Editor's note: Is that the same guy who wrote "Confessions of an English Opium-eater"?)

(Boyle's note: Yes, he went on to opium from restaurant tea.)

Tea drinking is a highly esoteric art; it can become a cult. But it is basically as simple as putting tea leaves in boiling water. You can add a lot of refinements, but if you simply do that you'll get an acceptable drink.

The trouble with restaurant tea boils down to this: the average restaurant simply seems unable to boil water.

Experts on China Dime a Dozen

Dean Acheson told Eugene Dooman, both of the State Department, that China experts were a dime a dozen. To a degree, that is correct because during the past 100 years, a surprisingly large number of Americans, public officials, missionaries, teachers, doctors, businessmen, sea captains went to China.

Some became expert in language and dialect; some played important roles in the administration of the country. Especially able have been missionaries, who always live close to the people, often far inland away from the westernized atmosphere of the treaty ports.

For instance, Roy Anderson, who was born in Soochow, whose father, a former newspaperman in Atlanta, Georgia, turned missionary, was president of Soochow University. Roy Anderson spoke many dialects of Chinese and played Chinese politics like a true southern Democrat. He was an important factor in Sun Yat-sen's revolution of 1911 which defeated the Manchus.

Subsequently, from 1911 to 1925 when he died, Anderson made and unmade cabinet officers, provincial governors and, in one instance, even a president.

He died in Peking on the very same day that Sun Yat-sen died there and the Chinese erected a monument to him.

There were many such Americans in China. Rodney Gilbert, for instance, who occasionally writes for the "New York Herald Tribune," was regarded by Chinese as one of the best informed men in the country. Un- ton Close was an adviser to Wu Pei-fu. George Fitch was always close to Chiang Kai-shek. At one time, nearly every Chinese warlord or official of standing had an American adviser, and many of them did excellent service.

The businessmen, particularly those connected with the British-American Tobacco Company and the Standard Oil Company of New York, stayed long and knew much. No man has accumulated more information and more friends than Major Arthur Bassett of the British-American Tobacco Company. His career in China might be cited as an example of prolonged residence and vast knowledge.

A Missourian, he arrived in China in 1906 from the Philippines where he was an American lawyer. He was the United States district attorney attached to the American court under extra territorial jurisdiction. Subsequently, he joined the British-American Tobacco Company. During World War I, he was provost marshal attached to the 15th Infantry in Tientsin. He was an astute intelligence officer.

Bassett possessed an unerring intuition concerning Chinese which made it possible for him to take an obscure cigarette, the "Ruby Queen," and make it the best selling brand in the country by the employment of Chinese methods of selling through a Chinese organization of his own devising. As a matter of fact, his success served to revolutionize the sales methods of all companies dealing in imported consumer goods.

In the 1930's there must have been a thousand or more men and women of his calibre in the United States, Americans with a vast and intensive knowledge of Chinese, Chinese affairs and personalities, and some of them with prolonged residence in that country and other parts of Asia. They were all available for the service of our government.

After Roosevelt became president, most of the so-called "old China hands" were dropped by the State Department. Because of their long residence in the country, they were supposed to be prejudiced. Because they knew so many important Chinese personally and intimately, they were supposed to be biased. Even men in the State Department, with long experience in China, were shoved out of the department altogether or moved to other parts of the world with which they had no familiarity.

An entirely new crowd came in. Dean Acheson and Alger Hiss, who took over management of Far Eastern affairs, had had no Far Eastern experience, knew no Far Eastern language and had never visited a Far Eastern country. The same was true of Dr. Philip Jessup.

Most of the newer men who emerged as authorities centered about the Institute of Pacific Relations, then profoundly dominated by Frederick Vanderbilt Field and Owen Lattimore. This organization became a kind of Far Eastern trade union that, in some manner, now being investigated by the M-Carran committee, exercised an undue influence upon the selection and promotion of personnel in the Far Eastern divisions of the State Department.

Dean Acheson could, out of the many Americans with Far Eastern experience, select those whom he wished as experts and advisers. He apparently chose not the most experienced, the most successful or the wisest, but those who fitted his predispositions. The question then arises: What predisposed him in the direction that he took?

Fifty-Two Ladies Attend Regular Luncheon Bridge At Country Club Thursday

A large number of members and guests enjoyed the fortnightly luncheon bridge on Thursday afternoon at the Washington Country Club and were greeted by the gracious hostess committee with Mrs. Walter L. O'Brien as chairman, and her assistants, Mrs. Ed Hunt, Mrs. Ellet Kaufman, Mrs. M. Grove Davis and Mrs. Alice Renick.

Beautiful fall flowers interspersed with arrangements of foliage made up the decorations in the club lounge and also on the tables seating the group for the delicious luncheon.

Later, twelve tables of ladies engaged in the spirited progressive game and at the close of the afternoon of play attractive awards went to Mrs. Clinton D. Young, who was the winner of the high score trophy, and Mrs. M. J. Whitfield, who received second.

Guests included were Mrs. E. M. Huston of Alexandria, Virginia, Mrs. W. R. Keagy and Mrs. William H. Zimmer of Cincinnati, Mrs. Arthur O'Dell of Springfield and Mrs. Emily Coberly of this city.

The current agenda of the League of Women Voters is the revision of Ohio's Constitution. While the league as a whole has taken no definite stand, it is working for a favorable vote in 1952. Action is centered on arousing interest, informing others, and getting the constitution on the program of every organization in Ohio.

From the Dayton Conference the delegates brought home new ideas which will be circulated throughout the community and put into effect by the local league. There were four morning sectional meetings, each followed by an afternoon clinic. The opening meeting was presided over by the state president, Mrs. Werner J. Blanchard.

Presiding over group meetings were: Mrs. G. L. Resor—"How to Form a Citizens' Committee"; Mrs. F. M. Gusweiler—public relations, radio, television, newspaper—Mrs. W. T. Harding and Mrs. Joseph Specka—Material and units; Mrs. Lyle Bristow—Speaker's Bureau, panels, debates, speakers. A noon luncheon with a guest speaker followed the morning meetings.

The Wesley Mite Society met in Fellowship Hall at Grace Methodist Church, with Mrs. John Markley, president, in charge.

The opening hymn was "In The Garden of Prayer" with Mrs. Rex Pittenger accompanying.

Miss Mary Edge was devotional leader, and roll call was responded to by twenty-six members. Mrs. Willard Moore was program leader and presented Mrs. Pittenger in a group of piano solos, and Mrs. Damon Merritt also entertained with a group of vocal solos.

Mrs. Earl Scott gave several readings.

Miss Edge, chairman of the social committee, and her assistants, Mrs. Robert Edge, Mrs. Allen White, Mrs. Ella Willis, Mrs. Roy Greer and Mrs. William Sturgeon, served a dainty dessert course and seated the members at one long table decorated with fall flowers.

Area Convention Of LWV Held On Thursday

The League of Women Voters of Fayette County sent five delegates to the League Area Convention held in Dayton on Thursday, September 27. The delegates were Mrs. Minnette Y. Fritts, president; Mrs. Paul S. Craig, first vice-president; Mrs. John P. Case, second vice president; Miss Dorothea Gault, program chairman and Miss Florence Connor, contact chairman.

The object of the conference was to further the awakening of interest in the question of calling a constitutional convention to consider the question of the revision of the Constitution of Ohio. Every citizen of Ohio should be aware that in November 1952, the question of calling a constitutional convention automatically will appear on the ballot.

The current agenda of the League of Women Voters is the revision of Ohio's Constitution. While the league as a whole has taken no definite stand, it is working for a favorable vote in 1952. PORTER'S PASTRIES

Dodgers Chased from Game For Rampage with Umpires

BY JOE REICHLER
BOSTON, Sept. 28—(AP)—Did Jackie Robinson, fiery Brooklyn second baseman, pound and kick the locked door of the umpires' dressing room in a violent rage following the Dodgers' hotly disputed 4-3 loss to the Boston Braves yesterday?

"No," shouted Robinson. "Anybody who said I did is a damned liar."

Did any of the Dodgers assault the barred door, cracking two of its panels, before the arrival of five special policemen to help the regular guard?

"Yes," admitted Robinson. "I know who did it but I'm not saying who."

"I know who did it too," echoed Brooklyn pitcher Preacher Roe, victim of the heart-breaking loss that pared the Dodgers' first place lead over the New York Giants to a half game.

"But it wasn't Jackie," added the Preacher. "I'll take an oath on that."

"I don't know who damaged the umpire's door," another Dodger said refusing to be identified. "But quite a few of our boys either kicked or pounded it on their way to our dressing room."

Robinson Complains
Earlier, one of the special policemen had reported it was Robinson who had done the kicking and pounding.

"Whenever I'm in a crowd and something happens," complained the brilliant Brooklyn infielder, "Right away it's me!"

Ford Frick, president of the National League, said in New York he had talked by telephone with two of the four umpires who had worked the game and neither had

DISPERSAL OF ENTIRE HERD OF YORKSHIRE HOGS

Monday, October 1
At 1:00 P. M.

Together with equipment in the form of coops, troughs, feeders, breeding crate, etc., and farm machinery consisting of John Deer double disc, McCormick-Deering Model 42 Combine, McCormick-Deering 12-7 Grain Drill and other items that may be added by sale day.

There will be no brass band - I prefer to sell in the modest surroundings in which these hogs were raised, and I have bred and raised every one of them.

This is the best breed of hogs I have ever been associated with, both in consistent productivity and high quality of lean meat carcass. The sow herd (all full sisters) is sired by Scanlands Pine Grove Al 1C, the combination of Gravel Ridge and Pine Grove breeding that has produced the Grand Champion boar at the Canadian Royal for three straight years, it has never been beaten in class at the Ohio State Fair and has in turn produced prize winning offspring. Included in the sale will be the champion and reserve champion sows which I showed at the 1951 Ohio State Fair. They are out of Cool Springs Princess 24C, the greatest producing sow ever bred by us, and bred to Ohio Rancho 13E, full brother to the barrows with the highest cut out score ever made under the supervision of the Ohio State University. (52.55%). All young breeding stock on this farm, where no reactor to the Bangs or Tuberculin test has ever been found in my tenure here, is sired by this boar. During the entire lifetime of this herd, every animal has been immunized by Dr. S. L. Saylor with serum and virus.

Terms - Cash, no article to be removed until settled for.

Location - At Farm, 6 miles N. E. of Ashville, Ohio.

Auctioneer - G. C. Doersam.

mentioned an assault on the officials' door.

"I talked with both Frank Dascoli and Bill Stewart," said Frick, "and they said nothing about Jackie Robinson or any other player kicking the umpire's door."

"I expect, however," he added, "that part of the report if true, will be in my hands soon."

The hectic under-the-stands scene came as a result of the ejection of Brooklyn Catcher Roy Campanella by Plate Umpire Dascoli. Campanella had objected violently when Dascoli ruled Bob Adair slid home safely with the run that snapped a 3-3 tie in the eighth to give Boston its dramatic victory.

"Campanella didn't touch Addis until his feet crossed the plate," said Dascoli, explaining the play that caused one of the most uproarious baseball rhubarbs of the year.

Campanella Explains
Campanella explained that his ejection was not caused by his language.

"I didn't cuss him and I didn't touch him," Roy said. "I only asked how that could score when I had the plate blocked."

Dascoli verified the Campanella claim that neither his ears nor the rest of his person had been offended.

"He threw his glove," said Dascoli. "Under the rules he was automatically out of the game."

The riotous inning began with Addis singling and racing to third on another one-bagger by Sam Jethroe. With the Dodger infield drawn in, Earl Torgeson bounced to Robinson, who threw to the plate to head off Addis. Dascoli,

Coal Is Bonanza For German Village

NEU BUEDDENSTEDT, Germany—(AP)—This small village of 2,402 inhabitants — except for golden destiny — would be just a slum. Most of its people are miners and the soil is barren.

But it has: A school for 449 children which cost $309,000, an even more expensive community building which includes a luxurious restaurant, a bowling alley and sleeping rooms for visiting sports teams, a $6,188 fire truck that has never been used and stands in a brand-new fire depot, fashionable flats and streets built with concrete. In fact, Neu Bueddenstedt claims to be the richest village in Germany.

From a company which started mining brown coal in this area after the war, the community is now getting $357,000 taxes per year, which is about $143 dollars for each of its citizens.

Singing Groups Boost Morale

Industry Makes Use Of Such Psychology

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 —(AP)—Tonsil tune-up time is here for industry. Thousands of warblers across the land are starting to learn new scores, as hundreds of companies start practice sessions for glee clubs, choral groups and quartets.

Some will sing only for their supper at a company function. Some will put on oprettas and tour far afield.

The number of such groups grows steadily, the National Industrial Conference Board reports today, as more manufacturing, transportation and retail companies encourage their baritones and altos, tenors and sopranos. The singing societies are big morale boosters in their plants, and also improve the companies' relations with their communities.

Groups range in size from quartets to choruses of 225. Some are self-supporting. Some are company financed. Some charge admission. Some maintain charitable organizations from collections taken at concerts.

Just Some Examples

Here is a sampling of a few company songers' doings:

The Caterpillar Tractor's mixed chorus of 60 will put on "Roberta" next month. The chorus is financed by the company's take from vending machines in its plant.

The Dow Chemical Plant at Midland, Mich., will put on "Rose Marie" this fall. It has a male chorus of 130 and a girls chorus of 115, all company-financed except for the singers' formal evening clothes. The groups will combine at Christmas time to sing "Elijah," and in March will sing in Tulsa, home of a Dow subsidiary, and in four Texas towns where Dow plants are located and also appear on a television program in Houston. Collections are taken at every concert to provide funds for children and maintains a scholarship fund.

Marshall Field's mixed chorus of 200 will sing the "Messiah" at Christmas time and give a concert in mid-April with guest artists. The singers get a free supper at each Tuesday rehearsal and also get three days extra vacation.

Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has 110-voice male glee club and a 103-voice women's music club. They are self-financing and often net $1,000 a concert.

In contrast, the women's glee club of Bendix products division of Bendix Aviation Corp., has only 25 members. The girls choral club of Chase Brass & Copper has 35 voices, is self-financing and sings at Christmas time only. So does the 45-member mixed chorus of the Square D Company.

India Loans to Kashmir

NEW DELHI —(AP)— The government of India will give disputed Kashmir a $1,050,000 loan this year to help finance its development plans, it was officially stated here. Kashmir has always been a deficit state and its funds, even before partition, were replenished from central revenues.

Czech Unrest Threat to Reds

Stalin Is Jabbed By Underground

BY A. I. GOLDBERG
NEW YORK—Czechoslovakia's "Porcupine" has done it again.

For the second time in less than a year, the Prague weekly satirical magazine Dikobraz— it means porcupine—appeared on the Czechoslovak news stands filled with a fistfull of underground barbs at the Red regime.

Somehow, underground editors managed to publish an edition in April with a cover that looked ed complimentary to Czechoslovakia's Communist bosses. But just inside and for six more pages, the magazine was filled with cartoons and stories that mocked and derided Russian, Czech, Slovak and every other kind of Communist they could pack into the pages.

There were cartoons that pointed up the Prague gossip about President Klement Gottwald's drinking habits. There were jokes about the heads of the governments. There were digs at Stalinism and shock workers, jibes about the whole Red structure of the new Czechoslovak bureaucracy.

Dr. Jan Papanek, former Communist Czechoslovak delegate to the UN, who was bounced by the Reds, received one of the two copies known to have been smuggled out of Czechoslovakia. He is still trying to find out what the regime did about it. But underground reports from Prague are slow after a feat like this is pulled off.

Papanek is a member of the National committee of Free Czechoslovakia, formed by Democratic Czechoslovaks in New York from among those who managed to escape the Communists.

Papanek said Dikobraz' circulation is about 300,000 copies a week but he did not know how far the fake issue had gotten. He did hear, though, that the people in Prague were offering as high as $20 a copy for the magazine which normally sells for 6 cents.

The first Dikobraz coup caught the Czechoslovak Reds fast asleep. The magazines ran a cover entitled "Enemies of Czechoslovakia". In what looked like orthodox Red propaganda, it caricatured western "imperialists," statesmen and institutions. The magazine had its usual wide sale and then sales suddenly spurted. The Prague population found that worked into the cartoon were caricatures of Gottwald, Zapotocky, Slansky, vice-premier Zdenek, Fierlinger and other Communist big-shots.

Cobra Bites All in Day's Work In Search for Polio Serum

By BEN FUNK
MIAMI, Fla.—Clarita Haast, a shapely blonde, wonders what would happen if her husband, Bill, ever bit her.

Bill has as much venom in his system as the meanest cobra that ever slithered through an Indian bush. He's so full of it, he can laugh off a cobra bite. The question is, how would the cobra make out if he bit back?

Bill and Clarita operate the Miami Serpenterium, home of 500 poisonous reptiles gathered from all parts of the world. Bill takes venom from the snakes for use in research laboratories, and does it as nonchalantly as a farmer juices a gentle Jersey cow.

When he started his business, which he believes is the only one of its type in the United States, Bill knew he was going to be bitten sooner or later. For any kind of a life expectancy at all, he had to somehow immunize himself to snakebite.

He began injecting cobra venom into his system, starting with a tiny amount and gradually working up to a lethal dose. He figures that in three years he has absorbed enough venom to kill 50 men.

Bill didn't have to speculate for long about whether his system would work. His snakes proved it for him. He has been bitten by nine cobras and 21 other times by rattlers, moccasins, corals and various other kinds of reptilian killers.

He believes he is the only man in the world who is genuinely immune to all types of snake venom.

One hundred times every day, he picks up a vicious, hissing cobra and casually extracts the venom that doctors use to deaden the pain of such diseases as arthritis and which some day may prove a powerful ally in the war on infantile paralysis.

The University of Miami research department, acting on a theory by Haast, has been experimenting for several months with cobra venom in treatment of polio. No announcements have been made, but reports of astonishing results have been drifting out of the laboratory.

Wiry, reddish-haired Bill Haast loves to work with snakes. That has been his ambition since, at the age of 12, he argued his reluctant mother into letting him keep snakes in the house as a hobby.

His first bite, by a copperhead when he was 15, didn't sway him from his goal of building a laboratory for venom production.

"My idea," he says, "was to develop a good, standard grade of venom that could be dispensed at lower cost."

Venoms imported from India and Africa, in powdered form, now cost about $1,200 an ounce. Haast has cut that price in half. Even $600 an ounce sounds high, but the venom goes a long way. It's an effective pain-killer when diluted 3,000 times.

It takes extractions from 600 snakes to produce an ounce. For Haast, that means six days of work so dangerous there isn't an insurance company in the world that would give him a ten-cent policy.

To get the venom, he grasps a snake at the back of the head and thrusts it toward a glass vial covered with a rubbery material that gives the snake something to sink his fangs in. When the snake bites, the clear, amber-colored venom drips from the fangs into the vial.

Bill made a fortunate marriage. Clarita, a photographer's assistant, couldn't recall ever having seen a live snake, even in a zoo, until she met Bill. But, like him, she wasn't afraid of them and in no time at all she was handling everything from a rattler to a medium-sized boa constrictor without a shudder.

At the time he was married, Bill had 40 snakes and no customers for the venom. So, while the construction work on his laboratory was in progress, he used his venom on himself. Clarita helped with the injections, carefully noting his reactions on a chart.

A friend, Carl Kauffeld, curator of the Staten Island Zoo, objected to Bill's unique experiment. He said he wouldn't give a nickel for Bill's chance to survive the shots for three years.

Bill started by diluting the venom 1,000 times in a saline solution. Then he worked up to a 100-to-1 dose, sometimes testing the injections first on animals. One shot, which killed a goat in three hours, caused him no discomfort.

His first bite after he began the injections was by a Cantil, a Mexican moccasin whose venom has been known to kill a horse in 20 minutes. Bill took it in stride. In the next 14 months, while handling a total of 32,000 snakes, he was bitten an average of once every 46 days.

Meanwhile, he shot a lethal amount of venom into his arms every 45 days. His charts noted no reactions to the snakebites beyond a slight local swelling.

Midway in the laboratory construction, Haast went broke. But Clarita saved the project. She suggested they open the half-finished place to the tourists who daily streamed past its location on the overseas highway to Key West.

Haast had only the 40 snakes to show to visitors, but on the first day 160 people paid a 50-cent admission charge and were delighted with his feats of handling the reptiles and extracting the venom.

Business picked up rapidly and now, in the winter season, more than 1,500 people visit the Serpenterium daily to see his snakes sunning themselves or dangling from tree branches in three landscaped pits. The laboratory was completed and Bill, on expeditions to Africa, India and Siam, has acquired 500 snakes of 40 varieties.

Snakes are nervous creatures and often the venom extraction upsets them so badly they quit eating. The result is a high death rate and high overhead costs. To overcome the eating problem, Haast developed a method of force feeding.

A trip to Africa led indirectly to Bill's theory of venom's possibilities in polio treatment. For four months, he discontinued his regular injections of venom and much of his immunity wore off. On his return, he was bitten in quick succession by two cobras.

Bill nearly died that time. Clarita carefully noted his reactions on the chart. After his recovery, Bill noted while studying the chart that his symptoms had been exactly the same as those of polio.

He suggested to the University of Miami research staff that venom might be used to make a polio serum. Work on the idea was started immediately and the project has reached the stage where the venom has been tried on human polio victims, although no announcements have been made of the results.

ADVERTISING BIDS WANTED FOR CONSTRUCTION OF SEWERS AT WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, OHIO

Sealed proposals will be received by the City Manager of Washington Court House at his office in the City Building until 12:00 noon Eastern Standard Time October 13, 1951 and at that time publicly opened and read; for the construction of the following approximate quantities of Sanitary Sewers:

8100 LINEAR FEET OF SIX (6) INCH HOUSE SERVICES together with necessary manholes, house services, repaving and other appurtenant work.

Copies of the Contract Documents, all bound together, and the Contract Drawings are on file at and available from the Clerk of Council, City Building, Washington Court House, or from the office of Bird & Thietzel, Consulting Engineers, 2130 Arlington Avenue, Columbus 12, Ohio.

A ten dollar ($10.00) deposit will be required for procurement of Contract Documents and Contract Drawings. The full amount will be refunded upon return of same.

Proposals must be submitted on the Proposal Forms contained in the Contract Documents and shall be accompanied by either a Proposal Bond or a certified check in the amount of five (5) percent of the total bid.

The Proposal Bond or Check shall be in favor of the City of Washington Court House, and shall be forfeited if the successful bidder fails to enter into a contract with the City of Washington Court House, or fails to furnish the required Performance Bond within ten (10) days after notice of acceptance of his proposal.

The bid deposit of the three lowest bidders will be held until the execution of the Contract. All others will be returned within 48 hours after the opening of bids.

A Performance Bond of one hundred (100) percent of the Contract and a separate labor bond equal to the largest aggregate payroll for any one month of the construction period, will be required. Both bonds shall be furnished by the same surety.

All bids will be compared on the basis of the estimated approximate quantities given in the Contract Documents solely for a uniform basis of comparison.

No bids may be withdrawn for a period of thirty (30) days after the opening of the work, or to reject any or all bids.

Information Machine Turns Out Answers

NEW YORK, (AP)—An information searching machine to answer questions by scanning 1,000 records per minute has been developed by the International Business Machines Corp.

This super-gadget combines the electronic principles of the "mechanical brain" business machine with a new mechanical "language" of 792 characters. Photo-electric eyes read scientific information from punched cards.

Information contained in books and technical literature is condensed in machine language on cards. When a question card is placed in the machine, the answer or index to where the answer can be found is automatically given.

Missing a Deadline Serious to Commies

HONG KONG, (AP)—Missing a deadline in Communist China is not only bad newspaper business, it's a "serious political mistake."

The director of Shanghai's official Red "Liberator Daily" publicly confessed this on the paper's front page in an article apologizing for failure to carry Marshal Stalin's V-J greeting to China's leader Mao Tse-tung.

The newspaper was caught short the director said, when the official New China (Communist) News Agency sent the paper a special bulletin on Stalin's message at 3 A. M. Nobody was in the office and the message just laid around until next morning.

Here's a Rugged Horse

SAULT STE. MAIRE, Ont. — (AP)—When a taxicab struck a horse loose on the highway near here, the horse apparently was not injured. Provincial constable Bill Cook reported the horse may have had a few minor bruises. But the taxi was damaged to the extent of $30.

Japan Makes Plans For New Super-highway

TOKYO — (AP)—The construction ministry announced today plans are under consideration for a super highway linking Tokyo and the city of Osaka.

Prime Minister Shigeru Yoe-hida — who recently served in San Francisco as the chief Japanese delegate to the peace treaty conference — said that he would like to see such a project started in commemoration of the signing of the treaty.

The projected super highway would cost roughly $160,000 to $190,000.

U. S. Food for India

NEW DELHI — (AP)—Nearly 1,000,000 tons of the United States food loan will have reached India before 1951 ends and the remaining 900,000 tons will arrive by March next year, Deputy Food Minister M. Trimul Rao told questioners in parliament here.

Seven from Here At Bank Meeting

Burton Presides
As Group Chairman

Man's hard work, ability, character and thrift must be on the balance sheet if free enterprise is to continue to be a reality rather than a catch-word, R. S. Weatherwax, president of the Ohio Bankers Association, told more than 300 bankers attending the annual meeting of Group Four of the association at Lake White, Thursday, Weatherwax is president of The Oglesby-Barnitz Bank & Trust Co., Middletown.

Seven of the officers and directors of the First National Bank of Washington C. H. attended the meeting. They were J. Roush Burton, William M. Campbell, Lowell M. Hayes, Willard H. Perrill, Harry Silcott, Albert R. Bryant and J. W. Wallace.

Burton is the chairman of Group Four of the association. He has two more years to serve in that capacity. He presided over the meetings, which were held both in the afternoon and in the evening following the dinner.

"If we truly believe in this free enterprise system to which we give so much lip service, isn't it our responsibility to keep the pioneer spirit alive in our banks and recognize that man's work, ability, character and thrift are still important items on the balance sheet?" Weatherwax said.

"The experience of any banker or successful business man through the years teaches us that in the long pull there is no substitute for creative individuals. Banks and business which encourage that type of person can influence the trend in our time back to a free economy where freedom is certain and security is earned."

Growth Described

To describe the growth of Ohio's business, Weatherwax pointed out that in the past decade bank deposits in this state have tripled, loans have increased two and one half times, salaries are almost doubled and taxes paid by banks are about five times what they were ten years ago.

Burton, president of the First National Bank here, presided at a panel discussion on banking operations.

Edison Hobstetter, president of The Pomeroy National Bank and chairman of Council of the state association, was leader assisted by K. B. Ledman, president, The National Bank of Portsmouth; D. E. Lewis, vice president, Citizens National Bank, Irons; and R. F. Smith, executive vice president of The Savings Bank, Chillicothe.

David M. Auch of Columbus, executive manager of the Ohio Bankers Association, spoke on organization subjects.

The guest speaker was Dr. William L. Steffens of the Springfield district of the Methodist Church.

Other officers of the group, in addition to Chairman Burton, are T. G. Goldsberry, cashier, The Citizens Bank & Savings Co., Leesburg, vice chairman, and R. B. Will, president, The Vinton County National Bank, McArthur, secretary-treasurer.

The following counties were covered by the meeting: Adams, Brown, Clinton, Fayette, Gallia, Highland, Jackson, Lawrence, Pickaway, Pike, Ross, Scioto and Vinton.

This is the first of the 1951 series of annual district meetings sponsored by the Ohio Bankers' Association. More than 3,000 bankers attend the series.

Beef Price Hike

Brisket or stewing beef—down as much as 20 cents a pound on choice cuts.

OPS said the choice grades which account for 35 percent of all beef sold to consumers probably will not average more than a penny a pound increase. Sharpest increases apply to utility grade cuts, used in processing sausage, smoked and cured meat, which account for 10 percent of sales, OPS said.

Actual prices over the country will vary in the 25 zones into which the country has been split for pricing purposes, as they do now because of differences in transportation and other costs.

However, the changes are the same in all zones, and will range from an increase of 29 cents a pound on some cuts to a drop of 20 cents on others.

For the first time, dollar and cents ceilings are set on prime grades which formerly sold at choice grade ceilings. This means the better grade will go up about 4 cents a pound more than under the previous choice ceiling.

The new ceilings were ordered to permit wholesalers to pass on to consumers recent hikes in their own ceilings, those wholesale ceilings, in turn, were boosted to let packers make up losses on tallow and hides which had sagged in price.

OPS Director Michael V. DiSalle promised that his agency's drive for enforcement of beef controls will continue until the industry is convinced "we mean business."

DiSalle told newsmen in Chicago that the drive already has turned up 254 violations of control regulations and has confirmed that many established packers and wholesalers -- "not fly-by-night operators" -- have engaged in illegal practices.

The American Meat Institute denied his statement.

Bloomington PTO Plans Carnival

Plans and committees for the forthcoming Hallowe'en Carnival, October 19, were announced at the first fall meeting of the Bloomington Parent Teacher's Organization in the school building Thursday evening.

Loren Michael, president of the organization, was selected chairman of the carnival committee. He will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. William Boyd and Mrs. and Mrs. Charles Cunningham.

A report on the progress of the committee, in charge of purchasing a new curtain for the stage and drapes for the windows, was given by Mrs. Elton Elliott, chairman of the committee.

It was also announced that the recent membership drive had produced 275 members. A $5 prize was presented to Mrs. Matt McDonald's first grade class for turning in the most memberships. Mrs. Willard Bitzer was chairman of the membership committee.

Following the meeting, the group was served refreshments in the cafeteria.

plant superintendent at the Ashland, Ky., Armco Drainage and Metal Products plant, and his wife; Professor Menzo H. Stark of Wilmington College and his wife, and Campbell Allen, safety supervisor of the Armco plant in Middletown.

Members of the Armco softball team, which had an outstanding record of play during its first year, received playing jackets at the fete. Those who got the jackets were as follows: Elton Anderson, Frank Berry, Chester Black, Gene Blankenship, Robert George, Larry Gill, Robert Harper, Charles James, Lucine Mongold, Clarence Runnels, Hayward Riley, Donald Shaffer, Jack Sollars, Everett Thacker, Wendell Barr, team captain; Robert Harper, bat boy, and Charles Arnold, Jr., team manager.

During a program, held in the factory, a string band from Armco's plant here, including Ernest McAllister, Robert Newell, both electric guitar, and Walter Gorman, violin, entertained the group.

Co-chairmen of the event were Al Senter, manager of the plant, and Robert R. Goldsberry.

Registration begins at 9 A. M., and the morning session opens at 10 A. M., with Mayor Karl Doebele delivering the address of welcome. Dr. J. W. Harrold, Hillsboro, Legion commander, will open the meeting, and Mac Lilly, district commander, will preside. The afternoon session begins at 1 P. M.

Many veterans from Fayette County will attend the meeting.

WHS Homecoming Queen Candidates Picked by Seniors

Don Howard, the newly-elected president of the Washington C. H. student council, presided over the first session of the high school student governing body Thursday night.

Other officers who had an active part in the meeting were as follows: Jim Williams, vice president; Mary McDonald, secretary; and Jeri Ann Boylan, treasurer.

Howard is vice president of the Future Farmers of America chapter at the high school and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Howard of the Hayes Road.

Howard, Williams and Miss McDonald are all seniors at the high school.

Business taken up during the first session of the student council included the following:

(1) Setting the date for the homecoming. It will be held at the Hillsboro game, October 12.

(2) A decision for each club at the high school to take turns sponsoring assembly programs at the high school.

(3) Announcement that a magazine drive will be held beginning next Tuesday, with the proceeds of the drive to go for the benefit of the school.

Three high school girls who have been nominated for homecoming queen include the following: Mary McDonald, Barbara Barger and Emily Schlue.

The entire student body will select the homecoming queen sometime next week. Seniors nominated the queen candidates while each homeroom selects its attendants.

A report was made on the sale of student activity books. It was pointed out that money raised from the sale of the books will be used to pay for the assembly programs.

Council members also discussed the establishment of a lost and found department in the high school but no action was taken.

W. W. Hill Legion Speaker Sunday

City Manager W. W. Hill will be the speaker at the annual fall conference of the Seventh District of the American Legion, to be held in the Armory at Hillsboro, Sunday.

Registration begins at 9 A. M., and the morning session opens at 10 A. M., with Mayor Karl Doebele delivering the address of welcome. Dr. J. W. Harrold, Hillsboro, Legion commander, will open the meeting, and Mac Lilly, district commander, will preside. The afternoon session begins at 1 P. M.

Selden Grange Hears Talk on Observation

Rev. Chester McKean, pastor of the Friend's Church of Sabina, was the main speaker during the "Booster Night" meeting of the Selden Grange Thursday evening.

"Noticing Little Things in Life" was the subject of Rev. McKean's talk. He had everyone take a dollar bill out of his pocket. He then had everyone look at everything on the bill and pointed out some of the little things that people never notice, although they see the bills all the time.

He concluded his talk by suggesting that everyone could help his fellowmen by being more observant and taking a closer look at the little things in life.

Preceding the talk by Rev. McKean, Mrs. Kenneth Bush read the national Grange master's "Booster Night" message.

The meeting, conducted by Mrs. Harold Mark, the Selden master, was opened with an invocation delivered by Mrs. Ralph Knisley, Grange chaplain.

Mrs. Mark introduced a number of guests. They included: Chester Jones, county deputy, and Mrs. James and Harry Rains, Pomona Grange master.

Group singing followed the introductions. It was accompanied by Miss Frances Ging and Mrs. Richard Claes.

Following the meeting, the group was served refreshments.

King told the managing editors the important thing to keep in mind about the Korean cease-fire talks was that the 135-mile war front was only one phase of the Asian situation.

Long War Front

The real front, he said, is the 1,400 miles from Hokkaido, Japan to Hong Kong.

The line runs on through the Philippines, into Indonesia and down into the southwest Pacific to Australia and New Zealand.

Korea he called the "firefront, the active front." But the long island chain beginning with Japan in the north and running to the Antipodes is the free world's front in Asia, he said.

King said Korea is so important because Russia is sitting on the doorstep of Japan.

"That simple fact is the basis of the conflict," the veteran AP executive declared.

King reminded that in addition to Oatis being held a prisoner of Communist Czechoslovakia, the Reds in Korea were holding AP Photographer Frank Noel, a Pulitzer prize winner.

Noel was captured last December while covering the marines.

Coldest Night Of the Season

Thursday night was the coldest of the season to date, when the mercury dropped to 39 degrees, with possibility of light frost in exposed places where the temperature was much lower than the official.

The colder weather came in with pronounced breezes from the north late Thursday, and a peak temperature of 76 was recorded during Thursday afternoon.
